In this, the 1949 Devilaire, we are trying to present a complete picture of the school year. We are doing this through an album, filled with pictures and words, which we hope will depict the life at A. H. S. This book is yours. It contains pictures of you, your friends, your classes and teachers, your sports, and most of your activities.

But let's not waste time in idle chatter—here is the key to unlock your treasure book of memories.

MAIN BUILDING

This is "Our School" where we're just like other boys and girls in high schools of America . . . where seniors dream of graduating, juniors dream of being seniors, and the rest of us just dream . . . where there is a love for our school even though we may not show it when tests roll around . . . where there is excitement in the air during football and basketball seasons, and a thrill in every student when Augusta beats McCrory in a game . . where we take an interest in all activities of the school—music, dramatics, sports, and classwork . . and where, deep in our hearts, we're proud that we are a part of A. ### SCHOOL BOARD

The school board is composed of five men: Vernon Massey, president; E. B. Connor, John B. Kittrell, John Revel, and Tom Stanley. J. Ford Smith is secretary to the board. The duty of the board is to carry on the school business officially.

The annual wishes to express appreciation for their efficient services. All indications show that their interest in school affairs is high and that they are operating the school as best possible with the available facilities and finances.

Due to unavoidable circumstances pictures of the board could not be taken.

FUTURE TRADESMEN OF AMERICA

The Future Tradesmen of America is another newly organized club in the school. The members are students that are in the distributive education classes. The purpose of the club is to further the interest of the students in business and industry. The sponsor of this club is Mr. Mack Hopper, distributive education teacher. An employer-employee banquet is held each year to acquaint the students with the business men, and to promote friendliness between the two.

education, and commercial courses.

Besides these, we have in our curriculum subjects that are taken to further aid us in our future lives and to make our lives more pleasant and full. We have speech, dramatics, and music along this line.

The development on the physical side is important,

"Looks like the chemistry class is trying to blow up the school!"

AGRICULTURE
"What is it? A boat? A House?"
(I think it's supposed to be a truck bed)

TYPING CLASS "Speed-demons in the making!"

" 'Little John' reads again!!"

"Believe it or not—the papers out!"

too. We have physical education which is required for every student why is physically able. Then we have football, basketball, softball, and track teams which further build our bodies, our coordination, and our ability to think quickly.

Once a week, and sometimes more, we have assembly programs which consist of speakers, talent programs, and individual grade programs. This year marked the beginning of lyceum programs which are going to be carried on through the years. Four of these programs were given this year — a men's quartette, a chalk-talk artist, a dramatic team, and a musician with a unique musical instrument called the "electronic novatar."

Most of us enjoy at least some of our classes. While we may complain about some courses, most of us actually feel we are getting something worthwhile from school. We believe that our school is growing not just in size, but in educational and moral standards, and that by offering courses along with 'readin, 'ritin, and 'rithmetic, we are building strong and competent men and women.

LUNCH ROOM "Soup's on!!!"

AGRICULTURE "Just name it, they'll make it."

STUDENT COUNCIL

Clockwise: Donald Brady, Andy Arnett, Jimmy Dale Jennings, Jean Taggart, Secretary; Calvin Arthur, President; Mary Huenefeld, Vice President; Bobby Taylor, Charles Chalfant.

The Student Council is an organized group of students in our school, whose purpose is to promote better understanding among the student body and to give the students a wrige in the school of the students as wriges in the school of the students as wriges in the school of the students are school of the students as wriges in the school of the students are school of the school of the students are school of the school of

and to give the students a voice in the school government.

The Student Council, this year, has appointed monitors in the halls; have built partitions on the stairway to take care of the traffic situation; have sponsored a ping-pong tournament; and they have sponsored many other activities for the benefit of the student body. These are only a few of the activities that the Student Council has sponsored to maintain better school-life among students of A. H. S.

The council became a charter member of an organization of District Two Student Councils, and was elected the presidnt for this year. Two meetings were held, one at Batesville and the other at Newport.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization composed of Home Eccnomics students, and is a very active club in our school. It is under the leadership of Mrs. Lindsey McGee.

The club began the year with a candle-light installation service, winch was very impressive. Nettie Sue Kinsey, retiring president, presided over the meeting. The following week, the new members were initiated, and a few weeks later, they were honored with a party.

At the first club meeting, Mrs. Charles Wilkins, Speech and English teacher, taught the club parliamentary procedure. This was very helpful in carrying on the club's meetings.

National F. H. A. Week was celebrated by the chapter in many ways. The club had charge of an assembly program on which they modeled the 1948 Maid of Cotton's wardrobe, and presented each member of the high school faculty with a red rose, which is the National F. H. A. flower.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Bobby Coleman, Tommy Burrow, George Miller, Donald Morgan, Dickie Henderson, Mr. Jack Hazelbaker.

The Future Farmers of America is another national organization composed of members of the agriculture classes. This club has been very active in school work this year. Among some of the projects were: building the football bleachers, having charge of some of the school repair work, making portable basketball goal posts, planting grass on the grounds of the agriculture building, graveling the driveway of the agri shop, building risers for the glee clubs, and building pens for the hogs which the F. F. A. raised in 1949. Then, in addition, each boy had his own personal project.

Shelly Holler, third year agri student, showed his pig in the Sear's Pig Show at Paragould in August, and won third place in its class.

The F. F. A. boys made a number of trips. They went to the Midsouth Fair in the fall. On March 15, they attended a federation meeting at Searcy. On April 1, six boys went to a district meeting at Jonesboro, and on April 9, five boys attended a Mid-south show in Memphis.

The group is under the guidance of Mr. Jack Hazelbaker, the agriculture teacher.

THE THESPIAN INITIATION

NATIONAL THESPIAN DRAMATICS SOCIETY

Dressing room which the Thespians remodeled.

One of the outstanding achievements of the 1948-49 school year was the organization of the Laura Conner High School branch of the National Thespian Society. The members of the speech and dramatics classes make up the membership roll.

National headquarters, located at Cincinnati, Ohio, received our petition in January, and on February, 1949, granted a charter to our high school, the first to be granted for outstanding dramatics students in the history of our school.

On March 29, at a public assembly, Mr. Roger Williams, former Harvard faculty member, and later a member of the U. of A. faculty conducted the initiation ceremony for seventeen candidates. Mr. Williams, organizer of the Blackfriors Dramatics Club at the U. of A., the oldest dramatics society in the state of Arkansas, concluded the cermeony by addressing the students on the cultural advantages of dramatics as a regular part of the high school curriculum.

The following students were the first regularly elected officers: Farrel Eubanks, president; Bill McElwee, vice-president; Gayne Preller, secretary; Preston Hooker, treasurer.

Mrs. Charles H. Wilkins, high school speech and dramatics teacher, is sponsor of the troupe.

RING . . . . RING . . . . .

"Hi, Riner! This is Marilyn. I just looked out the front window and saw some boys at the schoolhouse playing football, and I thought I'd call you and talk over the good times we have had this past year."

"Say, speaking of football, remember when we beat McCrory and everyone went wild?"

"How could I forget? The horns kept me awake half the night. And don't forget that we beat Cotton Plant and Bald Knob, too."

"What about Halloween? Everyone had lots of fun. Mitzi White and I Eldridge certainly were pretty when Mr. Holmes crowned them queens."

"Uh, huh, and Mary Huenefeld looked pretty as Homecoming Queen, too."

Mitzi White and Mary

"Oh yes! Remember how funny Coach Frank looked when he came to the seniors' Christmas party as Santa Claus?"

"I'll say? If Santa himself had met him, he would have thought he was seeing his reflection."

"Don't forget about that snow. I dodged snowballs from morning until night!"

"Didn't we all? The boys wouldn't let us stick our heads out the door." "Another thing I won't forget is the junior play. I never studied so much in my life!"

"Yes, and we really had to study for our senior play, too. Weren't Dude Hensley and Billy McElwee a scream in those hospital gowns!"

"Gosh, yes. And what about Billy hiding behind Dude?"

"That was funny. And remember the county tournament?" I'll never forget that. That senior boys' game is something I want to tell my grandchildren about."

"Me, too! I'll bet McCrory got tired of holding that ball. Although, I must say our boys looked pretty much at ease. That's more than I was. I got tired just weething."

watching."

"I think everyone else was tired too. But Captain Rex Collins livened things up when he donated the junior boys' trophy to McCrory.

"Oh, yes! Remember when the water came up and the Fitzhugh and McClelland Kids couldn't get to school? Wasn't it dull aorund school then!"

"Oh, sure. But don't forget that swell junior-senior banquet and prom? Nothing dull about that. And another thing that wasn't dull was that senior trip. Did we have fun!'

"Oh, I bet you had fun. But remember those glorious Saturday afternoons we had to spend working on the annual?"

"How could I forget? I never was so tired in my life!"
"Speaking of tired, I'll bet the operator is tired of us, so I'll see you later. Bye now.'
