TWO YEARS FOR BOY ROBBER

Bank Clerk, Aged 18, Confesses to

Theft of $55,000.

Pensacola, Fla., Nov. 29.—William Bell, aged 18, until a few weeks ago a trusted clerk in the First National bank of Pensacola, today pleaded guilty in the United States court to the theft of $55,000 from the bank on September 18. Judge Sheppard sentenced him to two years in the federal reform school at Washington.

The youth engineered one of the shrewdest robberies in recent bank history and was not under suspicion when, conscience-stricken, he returned the money. In broad daylight, in the presence of a score of other employees of the bank, Bell succeeded in exchanging a bogus package for a package containing $55,000, which had been prepared for shipment by express. He succeeded in secreting the valuable package in the bank until that night when he just as adroitly removed it to his home, where it again found a hiding place.

Scores of detectives were employed on the case and had found no definite clue when, on the morning of September 23, almost one week after the robbery, the old negro janitor of the bank found the $55,000 wrapped up in a newspaper lying against the iron grating of the rear door of the bank where Bell had placed it. His confession followed the next day.

Because of his youth and his previous good conduct Judge Sheppard imposed the lightest sentence possible.
