We hope this booklet will be helpful as you write and talk about Memphis State's football team this fall. For additional information, photos or assistance, please contact the MSU Sports Information Office. Services handled by or through this office include:

Press Box Tickets for newsmen and scouts. Requests should be made well enough in advance to allow time for handling, mailing and a seating assignment in the press box.

Radio Booths. After a confirmation of booth assignment from the Sports Information Office, stations should order own loops from the telephone company.

Western Union Transmitters should be ordered from the company after confirming space with the Sports Information Office.

Crump Stadium, where Memphis State plays its home games, has limited press box facilities. We can therefore be of better service if you advise us well in advance of the game you plan to attend.

The President

DR. CECIL C. HUMPHREYS first became associated with Memphis State in 1937. He has served the University as teacher, coach, athletic director, director of the graduate school, assistant to the president, and president.

A native of Paris, Tenn., Dr. Humphreys is a 1936 graduate of the University of Tennessee. He played football for the Volunteers, and was named to the Sports Illustrated All-America team for the first half century (1900-50).

Dr. Humphreys came to MSU in 1937 as a history professor and assistant football coach. He took the head job in 1939 and coached for three seasons.

At the start of WW II Dr. Humphreys served with the FBI as special agent. In 1944 he entered the Navy as a combat intelligence officer and served in the Pacific.

Dr. Humphreys continued his FBI career after the war. In 1947 he returned to Memphis State as athletic director and in the next 12 years laid the foundation for MSU's current athletic structure.

He served as director of the graduate school and assistant to the president prior to his appointment to the presidency in March of 1960. He succeeded J. Millard Smith.

Dr. Humphreys, who holds a Master's degree from Tennessee and a doctorate from NYU, is married to the former Florence Van Natta of Memphis. The couple has two sons, Hunter and Cecil Jr.

The Athletic Director

DR. EUGENE W. LAMBERT, Director of Athletics at Memphis State the past three years, was instrumental in bringing the Tigers to national prominence in basketball. During his five seasons as head basketball coach Memphis State went to two NCAA tournaments and compiled an 87-45 record.

A graduate of Arkansas with a Master's degree from Texas and a doctorate from Columbia, Dr. Lambert was a versatile athlete, earning All-Southwest Conference football honors at end his senior year, and placing on All-SWC basketball teams his junior and senior years. He also participated in tennis and track.

Following his graduation in 1930, he spent three years coaching high school football and basketball, and entered the college ranks at Arlington State Junior College in Texas in 1934 as football and basketball coach.

He returned to Arkansas in 1942 as head basketball coach, assistant football coach and athletic director. In six years as head basketball coach his teams won the SWC twice, finished second three times and third once.

Dr. Lambert came to Memphis State as head basketball coach in 1950. In 1956, he became head basketball coach at the University of Alabama, then returned to Memphis State in 1960 as athletic director.

Dr. and Mrs. Lambert, the former Bonnie Dale Crowe of Fort Smith, Arkansas, have three children, Gene, Jr., Linda and David.

The Head Coach

BILLY (SPOOK) MURPHY came to Memphis State in 1958 with a five-year plan in mind. Strategy and plans were discussed in hopes that in five years MSU would be a recognized football power in the South.

Coach Murphy has not disappointed those followers who wanted the Tigers placed in football prominence. After a 4-5 campaign in 1958, the plan began to unfold. In 1959 the Tigers finished 6-4, the following two years 8-2, and last season brought an almost perfect 8-1 record.

Along the way the schedule has been stiffened. Competition has been a byword. The 1963 schedule speaks for itself. And in five years Billy Murphy's record reads 34 wins, 14 losses. Included is that long awaited victory over a Southeast Conference team—a 28-7 win over Mississippi State last year.

Football has been a part of Spook Murphy's life from the day he was old enough to cradle a pigskin in his arms. From sandlot games in grammar school to high school games at Siloam Springs, Ark., Billy moved on to Mississippi State to seek grid fame. World War II interrupted his plans, so he enlisted and did a hitch as a Marine Lieutenant.

Back at Mississippi State in 1946, Murphy captained his Maroon teammates and made the ALL-SEC team at tailback. After graduation he came to Memphis State as a backfield coach. Five years later he returned to Mississippi State to assist at his alma mater. When Murray Warmath took the Minnesota job in 1954, Murphy went along, then came to Memphis State four years later.

Coach Murphy, 42, and his wife Elizabeth have two children, Mike and Libby.

Opposite—Scoreboard tells the story: Memphis State 28, Mississippi State 7, and Coach Murphy gets free transportation off the field.

His wife's name is Dorothy, and their children are Renee, Linda and Gabe, Jr. Hawkins also teaches industrial arts and was commanding officer of MSU'S ROTC program four years.

NCAA Rankings

Statistically speaking, Memphis State had a banner year in 1962. The NCAA service bureau listed the Tigers in 11 of a possible 20 team categories. Russ Vollmer and Dave Casinelli were each included in two individual departments. Here's how the Tigers ranked:

Pass Interceptions, first—Stole 18 passes of the 115 opponents threw.

Total Defense, second—Allowed 147.1 yards per game.

Pass Defense, third — Allowed 49 completions (only one went for a TD) and 62.9 yards per game.

Scoring Offense, fourth—Scored 261 points, a 29-point average.

Punt Returns, fourth—Averaged 15.4 yards on 18 runbacks.

Rushing Defense, fifth — Allowed 84.2 yards per game.

Kickoff Return Defense, fifth—On 45 runbacks, opponents averaged 15.7 yards.

Kickoff Returns, eighth—Averaged 24.6 yards on 17 runbacks.

Scoring Defense, 11th—Allowed 67 points, a 7.4 average.

Rushing Offense, 21st—Gained 1966 yards in 454 rushes, a 218.4-yard per-game average.

Total Offense, 24th — Gained 2859 yards in 576 plays, a 317.7-yard per-game average.

Casinelli ranked eighth in rushing (826 yards) and 14th in scoring (66 points). Vollmer ranked ninth in punt returns (224 yards) and 12th in scoring (72 points).

The Outlook

MEMPHIS STATE'S prospects for 1963 are undeniably bright, but a hazardous schedule makes last year's 8-1 record difficult to match. Coach Billy (Spook) Murphy, who has built the Tigers into a formidable grid machine in five seasons, has 24 returning lettermen. Only 10 are missing.

If you scan through the Review of '62 in this booklet, you'll note the names Russell Vollmer and Dave Casinelli pop up frequently. Both are back. Quarterback Vollmer completed 39 passes for 555 yards and six touchdowns. He also excelled in kick returns, and ran one punt back 88 yards against Ole Miss, a team not accustomed to such things.

Casinelli, a burly fullback, averaged 4.8 yards on 173 carries. His total of 826 yards placed him eighth in national rankings. Casinelli scored 11 touchdowns, Vollmer eight, and together they accounted for more than half their team's total.

THE TIGERS are deep at quarterback. Veteran Charles Alexander and two transfers, Billy Fletcher (Ole Miss) and Olie Cordill (SW Louisiana), brighten the picture.

Frank Ingram, who averaged 5.2 yards in 38 carries a year ago, heads a corps of four lettermen halfbacks. Ray Farmer is likely to be the other starter.

The Tigers are deep at end, where Capt. Dick Saccoccia will operate, along with Chuck Brooks, Wiley Patterson and Walt Heitzenrater, all veteran juniors. The combination of superior ends and quarterbacking should give Memphis State a fine passing game.

Guard Bob Finamore heads a cast of interior linemen that includes Charles Owens, Dick Quast, John Evans, Harry Schuh and Bill Scott. The defensive line was hit hardest by graduation, but the Tigers would like a repeat of last year when they ranked second in the U. S. in total defense and pass defense, and fifth in rushing defense.

WITH TWO VETS at nearly every position, Coach Murphy plans to platoon this year. His offense could be even more potent than last season, when the Tigers averaged four touchdowns a game and ranked fourth in the nation.

With so much experience, sophomores will have a chance to develop at a slower pace. Some rookies that could play, besides the two transfer quarterbacks, are end Ron Higdon, and tailbacks Don McClard and Don Jones.

In summary, Memphis State's offense might pack even more punch than a year ago. Graduation hurt the defense most, but Coach Murphy's teams have always been stingy, and the 1963 outfit will probably be as miserly as in the past. Biggest handicap is the absence of a game-buster; a back who can go all the way.

The outlook is bright, yes, but don't forget that schedule. The Tigers squeaked past a couple of early opponents last year. If they're as fortunate in 1963, and injuries are held to a minimum, it should be a good year at Memphis State.

Player Profiles

Quarterbacks

10 CHARLES ALEXANDER — 6-1 — 190 — Sr. — Orange Tex.
Charles came to MSU in 1959 from Florida State. He completed 10 of 17 passes for 209 yards and two TD's in 1962 and missed part of the season because of an injury. He attended Stark High and was coached by now-MSU assistant Wilson Waites. Major, industrial technology.

11 OLIE CORDILL — 6-2 — 175 — Soph. — Lafayette, La.
A fine runner, passer and punter, Olie has outstanding potential. A transfer from Southwest Louisiana, he spent last season as a redshirt, then sparkled in spring drills. As a prep at Lafayette, he made all-district twice and all-state his senior year. His coach was Rayford Leblanc. Major, management.

12 RUSSELL VOLLMER — 6-0 — 190 — Sr. — Memphis, Tenn.
As starting quarterback last year Russ was MSU's top scorer, passer, and punter. He also led the Tigers in punt and kickoff returns. He ranked ninth in the U. S. in punt returns and 12th in scoring. A fine field general, Russ' 88-yard touchdown dash with a punt against Ole Miss was a highlight of 1962. At Memphis Central he was all-city, all-state and all-America. Ruffner Murray was his coach. Married, one child. Major, business administration.

14 BILLY FLETCHER — 5-9 — 178 — Soph. — Memphis, Tenn.
Billy transferred to Memphis State from Ole Miss. He was hampered by injuries in spring training. A home-town boy, Billy is perhaps the greatest prep-league player to come out of Memphis in a decade. Along with receiving all-city, all-state and all-America honors, he won the most outstanding athlete award of All-Memphis Sports. He attended South Side High and was coached by Malcomb Phillips. Major, industrial arts.

10 Alexander 12 Vollmer 14 Fletcher 20 McClard

Halfbacks

20 DON McCLARD — 5-11 — 190 — Soph. — Dexter, Mo.
Don is good enough as a sophomore to be listed on the No. 2 tailback unit. A promising runner with speed and agility, he is expected to add needed depth, and should see plenty of action. Don was an outstanding football player at Dexter, making all-state, all-conference and all-America. His coach was Tom Thrower. Major, business.

23 BILLY RAY FARMER — 5-11 — 186 — Jr. — Ashville, Ala.
Billy caught nine passes for 150 yards and three touchdowns last year. His total of 18 points was the team's third highest. Easy to coach, he loves football and is eager to learn. With a fine season last year and a good spring practice, plenty is expected of Billy in 1963. Under his high school coach, Bill Ellis, Farmer made the all-conference team as a senior. Major, business.

25 JIMMIE EPPERSON—5-11—189—Soph.—Sylacauga, Ala.
Jimmie is expected to develop, with experience, into a fine football player. He has good speed and agility. His high school coach was Tom Calvin. Major, physical education.

34 ED WELDON — 5-11 — 195 — Sr. — Osceola, Ark.
Ed was shifted from Monster-Man, a defensive position, to wingback in spring training. The coaches plan to use him both on offense and defense this year. Last year he was a defensive leader with some key interceptions. Ed was an all-state prep quarterback and received some all-America honors. Married; two children. Major, industrial arts.

40 BUTCH TRAVIS — 6-0 — 181 — Jr. — England, Ark.
Butch completed six of 17 passes, two for touchdowns, as a quarterback in 1962. He attended England High School and was coached by Kenneth Miller. Major, science.

23 Farmer 25 Epperson 34 Weldon 40 Travis

Halfbacks

42 DON JONES — 5-11 — 158 — Soph. — Beaumont, Tex.
Don is a speedy lightweight who was red-shirted last year. At South Park High School he had an impressive record, especially in football and track. His football coach was Sparky Adams. Major, marketing.

44 FRANK (PETE) INGRAM—5-11—190—Jr.—Marianna, Fla.
Although Frank played on the defensive unit last year, he got some experience at offensive tailback. He caught eight passes for 118 yards and gained 198 yards in 38 carries. His high school coach was Mack Rooks. Major, industrial arts.

Fullbacks

16 JIM ADDINGTON — 6-0 — 179 — Sr. — Nettleton, Miss.
Jim will play mostly as the Monster-Man this year. Originally a quarterback, he was a member of the fine defensive team last year and one reason MSU rated high nationally on defense. He was selected as the alternate captain this year. Jim played high school ball at Nettleton High and made all-state and all-America honorable mention. His coach was John Carlisle. A top student, Jim has a strong B average. Major, industrial arts.

22 JOHN WALLACE WRIGHT—6-1—190—Jr.—Tunica, Miss.
John came into his own last season, and promises to be a big help to the Tigers this year. He gained 84 yards in 19 carries in 1962. John made the all-conference and all-state teams at Tunica, and was coached by Glen Bush. Major, industrial arts.

30 DAVE CASINELLI — 5-9 — 200 — Sr. — Follansbee, W. Va.
This will be Dave's third season as MSU's starting fullback. The past two seasons he led the Tigers in rushing, along with being one of the top scorers. Last year 'The Bull' gained 826 yards in 173 carries, an average of 4.8 yards. He scored nine touchdowns in 1961, eleven in 1962. He ranked eighth in the nation in rushing and fourteenth in scoring. He is a top all-America candidate. Coached by Anthony Paesano, Dave prepped at Follansbee, West Va., where he made all-state and all-America his senior year. Married. Major, mathematics.

44 Ingram 26 Addington 22 Wright 30 Casinelli

Centers

51 JOHN CRONIN — 6-2 — 196 — Sr. — Chicago, Ill.
John has played a lot of fine center since coming to MSU. The coaches call him one of the best blocking pivotmen in Tiger history. This asset should make Memphis State's inside game go in 1963. John played high school ball at St. Patrick's in Chicago. His coach was Fred Dempsey. As a senior, John was selected to the Chicago all-Catholic team. Major, management.

54 HERB CUMMINGS — 6-2 — 205 — Soph. — Trevose, Penn.
Nicknamed "The Neck," Herb is an excellent blocker and alert defensive player. This season he will be used mostly on defense. Playing his high school ball at Neshaminy High, Herb made the all-conference and all-state teams, and was honorable mention all-America as a senior. John Petercuski was his coach. Herb was a red-shirt last year. Major, physical education.

55 DOUG WOODLIEF — 6-2 — 221 — Soph. — Marianna, Fla.
Doug, red-shirted last season, looked good in spring training. He should become a fine center for MSU. In high school Doug was selected for the all-conference and all-state teams. He was coached by Mack Rooks. Major, mathematics.

Guards

60 BILL SCOTT — 6-1 — 235 — Sr. — Chicago, Ill.
Bill's tenacious play in 1962 was one reason MSU recorded one of its finest seasons. He began his college career as a fullback, but was moved to guard to take advantage of his size. He stayed there to become one of the Tigers' best interior linemen. Bill's agility is unusually good for a big man. High school laurels at Chicago Vocational include all-city, all-mid-west, all-conference and all-America. His coach was Bernie O'Brien. Major, industrial arts.

51 Cronin 54 Cummings 55 Woodlief 60 Scott

Guards

61 PAT MILLER — 6-1 — 192 — Jr. — Altoona, Penn.
Pat has played several positions since coming to MSU, including quarterback, fullback and end, and finally guard. Last season he did nearly all of the kicking-off, along with some extra-point booting. His addition to the guard spot gives needed depth. Late in the 1962 season Pat was injured and missed spring drills. In high school under Coach Paul Bradley he was voted the most outstanding athlete. Major, history and sociology.

63 BOB FINAMORE — 6-0 — 222 — Jr. — Wayne, N. J.
Perhaps the best guard prospect to play for MSU, Bob is classed by the coaches as one of the top linemen in MSU history. He has the ability and determination to become a great football player. Bob will be a mainstay on the defensive unit. He was chosen most valuable player at Patterson Central High by his coach, Nelson Graham. Major, physical education.

65 RALPH CICCARELLI—6-0—221—Sr.—Follansbee, W. Va.
Ralph developed into one of the Tigers' better guards last season. He played high school ball at St. Anthony's and under the coaching of Tony Paesano received the M.V.P. and sportsmanship awards. Major, industrial arts.

66 WALLACE SEXTON—6-0—210—Sr.—Round Lake, Fla.
When Wallace came to MSU he was a top-notch fullback, but was changed to center last fall and guard this year. His biggest asset is his fierce defensive play. He was chosen all-conference at Round Lake, where he was coached by Joe Houston. Major, industrial arts.

61 Miller | 63 Finamore | 65 Ciccarelli | 66 Sexton

Guards

67 CHARLES OWENS — 6-3 — 241 — Sr. — Panama City, Fla.
Charles did a commendable job as a tackle last year. His speed caused the coaches to move him to guard last spring, and this season he will be used mostly at offensive guard. He prepped at Bay County High and was coached by Art Van Tone. Major, management.

Tackles

71 PHIL ROGERS — 6-0 — 213 — Soph. — Marianna, Ark.
Phil was a four-sport athlete at Marianna's Futrall High. His coach, Wilson Kell, used him as a fullback. He was an all-conference selection and honorable mention all-America. He was chosen Mr. Marianna High and best all-around athlete. Last year Phil was a red-shirt and had a promising spring workout. Major, industrial arts.

73 DON SCROGGINS — 6-2 — 210 — Soph. — Sylacauga, Ala.
A red-shirt last season, Don was a mainstay for the 1962 freshmen. At Sylacauga High he lettered in three sports and under football coach Tom Calvin made all-county two years and all-state as a senior. He has good speed and football savvy. Major, industrial arts.

75 JOHN FRED ROBILIO — 5-10 — 219 — Sr. — Memphis, Tenn.
Last season was John's first at tackle and he did an impressive job. Originally a guard, 'Bub' played high school ball at Christian Brothers in Memphis under Tom Nix. He made the all-Memphis high school team and was chosen most outstanding lineman. Major, retail marketing.
