[fn 117]

Transcribed by Will Graves

Abstract:

On January 3, 1845, Sally McNess, 76 years old, resident of Laurens County, South Carolina filed for a widow's pension as the widow of Lewis Saxon who she alleges served a 3-month tour under Col. James Williams and Col Robert McCrary in 1778; that he was drafter in 1779 under the above named officers and performed a 4-months tour; that he volunteered in 1780, the last of December, under Captain William Harris and Col. Joseph Hays [sic, Joseph Hayes] and performed service as a private until sometime in 1781, at which time he was appointed Captain and performed as such until the end of the War. Then she states: "That there was a predatory war kept up between the Tories and Whigs in South Carolina, for several months after the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain, in which her husband continued to perform service. That she has heard her husband say he was engaged in the Battles of Cowpens, Eutaw Springs, the Siege at Ninety Six, and was taken prisoner at Hayes' Station in Ninety Six District. That he was a resident of Ninety Six District South Carolina at the time he was drafted into service, where he continued to live (or in a part of the same now called Laurens District) to the time of his death. That his services were performed in the State of South Carolina, with the exception of one tour of Service, which she has heard her husband say he performed in the State of North Carolina. That she has no other documentary evidence in support of the claim, than what is here with forwarded to the Department.

That many years ago she saw amongst her husband's papers his commission as a Captain in the Revolutionary War; but that it has since been destroyed or misplaced so that it is now out of her power to produce it. She also declares that she was married to the said Lewis Saxon on the first day of February in the year 1787; that her husband, the aforesaid Lewis Saxon died on the 31st day of October 1813; that she was not married to him prior to his leaving the service, but the marriage took place previous to the first of January 1794 Viz.: at the time above stated. She further declares that after the death of her husband the aforesaid she was married to Robert McNess on the __ [blank in original] day of April in the year 1816; that he died on the seventh day of January 1840; and that she is still a widow....
