What I Can remember of Mom & Dad

If I'm correct it was at age 3 yrs.
Mom & Dad & myself went to Augusta.
We stayed in a yellow house at the end of the main street, I think it was the home of Charlie Hareless, who had the hardware store. I recall walking out the front door and to my left was the river, the school was one block to my right. Later we were in the Laura Conner School Auditorium & I don't recall graduation but I remember Big Brother Buddy singing "Shine on Harvest Moon." He was dressed as a soldier in the Army.

Later I remember a beautiful little Red Fire Truck. I took it over to Scarborough's lot on the corner of 3rd & Elm & all the gang was there, & Silly Stephens came out to inspect the Fire Truck. We all liked Silly, he went out of his way to be nice to us little kids. I won't swear to it but I kinda remember I won some kind of Baby Contest.

I kinda looked forward to supper time - Mick & I would run up to the corner by Aunt Margie's & Uncle Solie and meet Dad walking home. He would always pick us up, me on his back & ole Mick in his arms & ride us home. We unloaded at the front steps and into the kitchen for supper.

I recall about this time - the kitchen sink stopped up & Mom worked & worked with her plunger & Meri was lye & couldn't get it opened up. Dad had the tools out and unclogged the drain and got a wad of lye on his hands and rushed out to the back hydrant to wash the lye off.

Later it was time to start school & Mom had ~~some~~ all washed & smelling like Ivory soap. She told me to go polish my shoes, "you don't want to look like a little sissy do you?" Paris walked with me and up the big front steps & to our right to the 1st Grade class room. I think Mrs. Sailer was our 1st grade teacher & Miss Jessie Watson helped out at times. Ebby ~~Watson~~, Shirley Gallagher, Eugene Wallace, Lobby Ridmore, Betty Wickerson, Thelma Jean Shannon, Margie Suckel, Margrit Robinson, Margrit Anderson, I can recall their faces. At noon I looked up and sister David was standing in the door waiting to take me home for dinner.
